You Can Get Here From There

The very first international flight in the world was from Key West to Cuba in 1913. Today you can fly directly to Key West from Miami, Orlando, Ft. Lauderdale, Tampa or Atlanta.

Major carriers that fly into and out of Key West International Airport include Continental, American, Delta, United and U.S. Airways.

It's only a one hour flight from the Florida mainland to Key West, and since the whole island is only 7 miles wide by 4 miles long, it's a short ride to the Pier House from anywhere else on the island.
